

EQUALITY AND DIVERSITY POLICY

The Company is committed to providing a working environment in which employees are able to realise their full potential and to contribute to its business success irrespective of their gender, race, disability, sexual orientation, marital status, part time status, religion or belief. This is a key employment value to which all employees are expected to give their support.

In order to create conditions in which this goal can be realised, the Company is committed to identifying and eliminating unlawful discriminatory practices, procedures and attitudes throughout the Company. The Company expects employees to support this commitment and to assist in its realisation in all possible ways.

In line with the Human Rights Act of 1988 and the Equality Act of 2010 the Company aims to ensure that no employee or candidate is subject to unlawful discrimination, either directly or indirectly, on the grounds of gender, race (including colour, nationality or ethnic origin), sexual orientation, marital status, part time status, religion or belief or disability. This commitment applies to all aspects of employment, including:

- recruitment and selection, including advertisements, job descriptions, interview and selection procedures;
- training;
- promotion and career development opportunities;
- terms and conditions of employment, and access to employment related benefits and facilities;
- grievance handling and the application of disciplinary procedures; and selection for redundancy.

Equal Opportunities practice is developing constantly as social attitudes and legislation change. The Company will keep its policies under review and will implement changes where these could improve equality of opportunity. This commitment applies to all the Company's employment policies and procedures, not just those specifically connected with Equal Opportunities.

Harassment

Harassment is physical, verbal or non-verbal behaviour which is unwanted and personally offensive to the recipient, and which causes the recipient to feel threatened, humiliated, intimidated, patronised, denigrated, bullied, distressed or harassed.

The way in which complaints of unlawful discrimination and harassment will be handled

Discrimination and harassment are often complex matters, and there is no single way of dealing with every suspected or alleged instance. In some cases employees may be able to deal satisfactorily with an issue by raising it with their immediate manager.

- If an employee wishes to make a formal complaint he or she should use the Company's Grievance Procedure which is set out in the Employee Handbook. The Company will treat seriously all allegations of unlawful discrimination or harassment.
- If an employee is accused of unlawful discrimination or harassment
- If an employee is accused of unlawful discrimination or harassment, the Company will investigate the matter fully.

- In the course of the investigation the employee will be given the opportunity to respond to the allegation and provide an explanation of his or her actions.
- If the Company concludes that no unlawful discrimination or harassment has occurred, this will be the end of the matter.
- If the Company concludes that the claim is false or malicious the complainant may be subject to disciplinary action.
- If on the other hand the Company concludes that the employee's actions amount to unlawful discrimination or harassment he or she may be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including summary dismissal for gross misconduct.

Responsibility

Whilst the Company recognises that the overall responsibility for the effective operation of this policy lies with the Management, all employees, whatever their position within the Company, have some measure of responsibility for ensuring its effective implementation in their day to day activities and working relationships with colleagues.

To this end we ensure that all staff are aware of our Equality and Diversity Policy and what it means for them as employees. This includes:

- An explanation of our approach to equality and why it is important
- The business case for equality
- The law and what this means in practice
- The roles and responsibilities of staff in making the policy work
- Our policy for dealing with bullying and harassment
- Guidance for staff who recruit, select, appraise, supervise, promote etc

This Equality and Diversity policy is included in our induction process and in training for staff normally involved in recruitment and selection, development and review, job evaluation, promotion and training to make them aware of the equal opportunities implications of these activities.

Monitoring

The Company will not tolerate unlawful discrimination or harassment of any kind in the working environment and will take positive action to prevent its occurrence.

In this connection the Company will monitor its policies and will implement changes in order to improve them as social attitudes and legislation change. This commitment applies to all the Company's employment policies and procedures, not just those specifically concerned with Equal Opportunities.

Signed:

Dated: 6th October 2020

Name: Gary Clarkson
Position: Managing Director

This document will only be revised should any amendments/updates be made